Winnie Ruth Judd Escapes Hospital Fifth Time

Trunk Slayer Flees With Outside Aid

Phoenix, Ariz., (AP)—Baffled police were without a single major clue last night as they pressed their search for red-haired Winnie Ruth Judd, the wily trunk murderer who broke out of the State Hospital for insane Saturday.

"We've run up against a blank wall," said Sheriff L. C. Boies of Maricopa county. "We're checking every possible place we think she might go, but have no new developments."

Boies said all border crossing points, all main roads and homes of former friends and acquaintances are being watched.

A statewide radio alert has been broadcast.

The theory that she escaped in a dark colored sedan reported to have been parked outside the hospital fence opposite her ward is still being checked, the Sheriff stated.

Dr. A. H. Wolff, clinical director, said the sedan, believed to be a Hudson with California plates, was seen by four hospital attendants about the time Minnie was first missed, 8:25 p. m. Two women were inside.

Meanwhile, Dr. M. W. Conway, hospital director, arrived back at the institution. He had been traveling in northern Arizona at the time of the escape.

"There is no doubt she had outside help," he stated.

"About a week ago we received a tip that Mrs. Judd was going to get outside help to make another escape," he said. "She is a woman who has made numerous friends and I am sure there are a few who would go to any lengths to help her."

"When we got the tip we put a special guard outside the ward. He stayed there three nights before we decided it was just another rumor and took the guard off."

Dr. Conway said he thought the missing woman would try to get to Mexico where he thought she had friends.

She has never made it out of the state on four previous escapes.

Winnie Ruth, 48, was committed to the hospital in 1933, two years after she killed two girl friends and shipped their dismembered bodies to Los Angeles in a trunk and suit case.

Her latest break for freedom was apparently well planned.

She slid down a 48-foot rope from the window of a third-story tower of the ward to which she was confined. Attendants said the rope, made from restraining harnesses and clothing, reached the ground.

While 93 other patients watched television in a darkened second floor ward, Mrs. Judd picked the lock of a door leading to the tower. Once there, she removed screws from a heavily-screened window, dropped the rope and slid to the ground.

To get out of the hospital grounds she had to scale a nine-foot fence topped by three strands of barbed wire.

Three Miners Die As Blizzard Traps 20 In Cars

Colton, Utah, (AP)—A blizzard trapped more than 20 persons in a dozen autos Saturday night and when road crews reached them early yesterday three men in one car were dead.

Sheriff Joseph Holman said the death car was almost completely buried by snow. He said this likely funneled carbon monoxide fumes back into the auto.

Most of the trapped motorists were employees of the Independent Coal & Coke Co., at Clear Creek in the central Utah coal mining area.

The three dead men—all miners—were identified as Waldo Hansen, 45, William Arthur Brewer, 46, and Ed. S. Jensen, 58, all of Mt. Pleasant.

Gunman Kidnaps 18-Year-Old Stepdaughter Of U.S. Army Sergeant At Hanau, Germany

Frankfurt, Germany, (AP)—A chunky gunman in U. S. Army uniform kidnaped the red-haired 18-year-old stepdaughter of a U. S. Army sergeant near Hanau last night while she was riding in a car with two American soldiers.

Military police launched the biggest manhunt in postwar German history for Mamie Ruth Shelton, pert freckle-faced American girl who is employed at the Frankfurt Ordnance depot, and her abductor, who said he had just fled from prison.

Her foster father is Master Sgt. F. B. Burns, Hot Springs, Va., who came to Germany with his family for duty 13 months ago.

The girl was taken hostage by the gunman when her two escorts stopped their sedan to pick up a hitchhiker. The man pulled out a .45 calibre pistol, forced the two soldiers out of the car, then sped off with the terrorized Miss Shelton.

Young Democrats Interested In Naming County Chairman, Other Key People In Party

Appearance of nomination petitions of Attorney Harold C. Edwards, Stroudsburg, for the office of delegate to the Democratic national convention in Chicago in July, yesterday heightened speculation on who will be the party's candidate for county chairman at the April 22 primary.

Edwards would represent the 15th Congressional district composed of Monroe, Carbon and Northampton counties. The district is entitled to two delegates. Custom has given one of these to Northampton because of its size, the other being alternated between Monroe and Carbon. It is Monroe county's "turn" this year.

Mr. Edwards was delegate to the Democratic national convention eight years ago.

Present chairman is County Commissioner Granville Shiffer. He is now vacationing in Florida and, while he could and may be a candidate, the "hot cob" on the home front indicates he will not run.

At last reports from Democratic circles, it appeared that Mr. Shiffer would not be a candidate for county chairman at the primary because of plans to devote full attention to his many enterprises, including Shiffer's Service, lumbering operations, etc., and his post as Monroe county commissioner.

On the other hand, the "young" Democrats are reported deeply interested in naming a county chairman and other key people in the party's organization for an aggressive bid at sweeping the county in the coming presidential campaign, and maintaining a continuing program of party development and service in this region.

This week, it appeared yesterday, may bring forth a county chairman candidate by the so-called "young" Democrats in the county.

Meanwhile, B. K. Williams, who succeeded the late Dr. C. B. Rosen-

A. F. Considers Monroe County As Depot Site

Washington (AP)—Air Force officials continue to search the Pennsylvania landscape for a site for a 62 million dollar aircraft maintenance depot.

An Air Force spokesman said Saturday that locations in six counties are under consideration, but that no decision has at yet been reached. The counties are Lancaster, Dauphin, Lebanon, Schuylkill, Carbon and Monroe.

Farmers and other groups in Lancaster county have lodged vigorous protests against location of the huge depot on rich farm lands in the county. Labor organizations, on the other hand, would welcome the project because of the new employment it would create. So the Lancaster proposal is now being restudied.

Members of Congress who have been urging various sites for the depot also say they know of no new developments. Assistant Secretary of the Air Force Edwin W. Huggins said last month that a recommendation might be sent to Congress around the middle of February.

Huggins also said several sites may be submitted from which Congress could choose. Congress had authorized establishment of the depot in Lancaster county, but withheld appropriations when farmers protested.

Aiken Says HST Avoided Defeat In N.H.

Washington (AP)—Senator Aiken (R-Vt.) said yesterday he thinks President Truman withdrew from the Democratic presidential primary in New Hampshire "because Senator Kefauver (D-Tenn.) would have beaten the tar out of him."

"If I'm any judge of the New Hampshire people as I look across the river, Kefauver would have won there by a wide margin," Aiken said.

At the same time the Vermont Republican told a reporter "there is no question in my mind" that Truman can get the nomination if he wants it "because he controls the party machinery."

Aiken, who frequently is critical of his own party leaders, said also that "Truman is likely to be re-elected if the Republicans run the kind of a campaign they ran in 1948." He added the President "has not lost all his political astuteness."

Truman told his news conference on Thursday his name would be withdrawn from the March 11 New Hampshire primary. It was entered without his consent.

31-Cent Rise In Hourly Pay Ends Strike

Chicago, (AP)—Four thousand striking Chicago AFL truck terminal dockmen last night accepted a 31 cents an hour wage increase and will go back to work immediately. They went on strike at midnight Thursday.

The dockmen, members of the AFL "Teamsters" union, approved the wage increase and other contract terms last night after their representatives met with Federal Mediator William J. Murray and the Chicago Truck Terminal Operators. The first shifts were to report at midnight.

Murray said the agreement boosts the dockmen's $1.55 hourly pay by 31 cents and cuts the work week from 48 to 40 hours.

The proposal also calls for a five-day work week running from Monday through Friday.

Murray said 13 cents of the 31 cents raise must be approved by the Wage Stabilization board.

Father Clubs Son To Death

Sevierville, Tenn., (AP)—"Honest to God, sheriff, I loved my children; I never whipped them," was the prisoner's sober, morningafter protest when told yesterday he had beaten his mother's son to death.

Sheriff Roy Whaley, nevertheless filed a murder charge against Thomas Ball, 38. Whaley said the whisky-crazed Ball beat his six-year-old son, Eufamous with a broom and the arm from a rocking chair Saturday night after the boy and his sister awakened Ball from a drunken sleep.

The sheriff brought Ball from the Sevier county jail into his own living room yesterday morning to show him the bloodstained weapons with which Eufamous was slain.

Ball's haggard face showed no change of expression as he nervously smoked cigarettes during the officer's questioning.

Whaley said Ball had been drinking for more than a day in the tiny mountain cabin where he lived with his son; his daughter, Ruby Fay, 4, and his 81-year-old mother, Mrs. Lettie A. Ball.

Senators Attack Reorganization

Washington (AP)—Senator Hoey (D-N.C.) said yesterday a new move aimed at upsetting President Truman's plan to reorganize the Internal Revenue bureau "is very likely."

The proposal, described by the President as a step to improve the efficiency of the scandal-ridden tax collecting agency, will become effective at midnight March 14 unless the Senate adopts a resolution rejecting it. Forty-nine senators must vote for such a resolution to reject the plan, already approved by the House.

"I have heard several senators say they are not in favor of it," Hoey told a reporter.

Economic Study Set

Washington (AP)—A congressional subcommittee said yesterday it will begin open hearings March 10 in an intensive survey of what the government should do to help maintain economic stability.

Death Claims 'Curmudgeon' Harold Ickes

Washington (AP)—Harold L. Ickes, the bristling, sharp-tongued former secretary of the interior, died last night at the age of 77.

Death came after an 11 weeks illness when complications developed from an old arthritic condition.

President Truman paid tribute to the out-spoken former government administrator as "a unique figure in American public life... a true patriot and a many-sided citizen whose passing leaves a void in our national life not easily filled."

Ickes was a controversial figure on the national scene in the Roosevelt New Deal era from 1932-46, when he was secretary of the interior and also head of the Public Works administration in the days when the country was in the grip of a depression.

In more recent years he had spent a relatively quiet life, although occasionally he made some pungent comment on various political developments.

Prior to his final illness, Ickes had been under hospital treatment, but had showed some improvement. He went back to his home, Headwaters farm, near Olney, Md., on Jan. 18.

A few days ago he was returned to Emergency hospital when his condition became aggravated. He went into a coma yesterday three hours before his death at 6:25 p. m.

He is survived by his widow, the former Jane Dahlgren, two sons, and a daughter. He and Jane Dahlgren were married in 1938. The first Mrs. Ickes, the former Anna Wilmarth Thompson, died in 1935.

A son of the first marriage, Raymond W. Ickes, is a lawyer in San Francisco. Two children were born of his second marriage. They are Harold McEwen Ickes, 12, and Elizabeth, 10.

Funeral services will be held at All Soul's (Unitarian) church in Washington at 2:30 p. m. Wednesday.

Burial will be at Sandy Spring, Md.

He called himself "The Old Curmudgeon," a word Webster defines as "an avuncular, grasping fellow; a miser; niggard; churl."

In his tribute to Ickes, President Truman noted his fighting characteristics by saying he was "pre-eminent as an administrator. Although he was often irascible and could be intolerant of the opinion of others, his sharpest critics never doubted his integrity and were quick to concede that he was always efficient in a single-minded purpose, to get on with the work."

Razor-tongued, and the author of many quotable phrases, Ickes tackled the name of Curmudgeon on himself. He was just as blunt in naming others.

A running feud with the late Harry Hopkins, close associate of President Roosevelt, made New Deal history.

Grain Shortages Noted In Report

Washington (AP)—A House subcommittee reported yesterday that in Texas alone it has found shortages of $3,820,000 in the government's grain storage program.

The group said Texas elevators and warehouses have been found to be short 629,305 bushels of wheat and 84,488,500 pounds of grain sorghum valued at that amount which they were supposed to have in storage.

The information that there were shortages had previously been disclosed by the Agriculture department. Testimony to a Senate committee two weeks ago indicated the Texas shortages might reach four million dollars.

Meet Your Neighbors

Munsan, Korea, Monday (AP)—The Allies and Reds today called a full dress, plenary session of Korean armistice delegations for Wednesday to discuss the last item on the truce agenda—recommendations to the belligerent governments.

It will be the first plenary meeting since Nov. 27. Almost simultaneously the U. N. command disclosed that the truce teams would have to agree on specific recommendations or none could be made.

This opened the way to a possible new deadlock in the armistice talks which already have two long debated but still unresolved main issues. These are prisoner exchange and supervision of the truce.

Three Tots Drown In Wayne County

Scranton, (AP)—Three children drowned yesterday after falling through an ice-covered pond at Waymart (Wayne county), 18 miles northeast of Scranton.

State police said they recovered the bodies of George Bardowskas, 12, his brother, Kenneth, eight, and his sister, Phyllis, 11, from Keen's Pond, near Lake Ladore, Waymart, RD 1. They were the children of Mr. and Mrs. Philip Bardowskas of Scranton.

The Bardowskas children and their parents were visiting their grandmother, Mrs. Cassie Radziewicz, Belch. Preliminary investigation by State police indicated one of the youngsters plunged through the thinning ice and the other two fell in trying to effect a rescue.

The children reportedly were sleigh-riding on the ice. The pond is more than 30 feet deep. The bodies were recovered from seven feet of water.

75-Mile-Hour Winds Lash East Coast

Miami, Fla., (AP)—A cyclonic storm with winds near hurricane force (75 miles per hour) sped up the Atlantic off the North Carolina coast last night.

The Miami Weather bureau said in a 10 p. m. advisory that the storm, which swirled up from Cuba Saturday night, would continue north northeastward movement and pass a short distance east of Cape Hatteras, N. C. about 2 a. m.

The advisory: "The storm off the south Atlantic coast continues to move rapidly north northeastward about 30 to 35 miles per hour. At 10 p. m. it was about 100 miles south of Cape Hatteras, N. C."

"Strongest winds are estimated to be near hurricane force just east of the center and gales extend outward over 100 miles in the eastern semicircle but only a short distance in the west."

"It now appears unlikely that destructive winds will occur on shore but caution is advised until the center passes. Ships off shore should also exercise caution."

River Crests At Louisville

Louisville, Ky., (AP)—The swollen Ohio river crept four and one-half feet past flood stage and apparently reached a crest at this high water conscious city yesterday.

Muddy waters swirled from the river's banks across rain-sodden flat lowlands. But they caused only minor damage—a far cry from Louisville's 1937 flood disaster.

Warry Louisvillians kept tabs on the river this dark, sullen day during hours of rain as did residents of New Albany and Jeffersonville, Ind., just across the big stream.

More Powerful Engines, Including Overhead Valve Six, Featured By Ford

There are a total of 18 models in the three new lines—eight in the Mainline series, seven in the Customline series, and three in the Crestline series.

"Ford Mainline cars are for buyers chiefly interested in lowest-cost, dependable transportation," explained Jess Haynes, owner of Haynes Motors, Inc., N. Ninth at Scott St., Stroudsburg. The Customline models incorporate many special refinements and conveniences, and the Crestline series features three luxurious body styles.

"These Fords for 1952—in every respect—are the finest cars Ford has ever built, and their advanced styling, engineering and quality features establish them as the leaders in the high-volume field," Mr. Haynes said.

The new models are the result of Ford's far-reaching forward planning program, according to Mr. Haynes.

Ford's styling identity is preserved in the low-wide lines of the hood and front-end of the new cars, centering around a triple-spinner, air-scoop grille arrangement. The new cars have curved one-piece windshields and rear windows, and their body lines sweep backward from extended headlights along the hood and higher fender line to the jet-tube taillight sections.

Among the 1952 models are three completely new utility passenger vehicles, one for each of the three lines of cars. The Ranch Wagon in the Mainline series is a two-door, six passenger unit, with all-steel body. In the Customline, there is the Country Sedan, a four-door, eight passenger vehicle with all-steel body. In the Crestline is the Country Squire, another four-door, eight-passenger model, with wood trim over the steel side panels.

All three of the utility units are quickly convertible for light hauling tasks. The rear seat of the Ranch Wagon folds into the floor, and in the two four-door models, the center seat folds into the floor and the rear seat is removable.

Nevin L. Buck, general sales manager, said that "Ford again leads its field in offering the widest variety and choice of power combinations, safety features and fashion color selections. Fords are the only completely new cars in their field for 1952, thanks to Ford's long range planning program."

"Only Ford in the high-volume class offers both six-cylinder and V-8 engines, three transmissions, foam rubber padding on all passenger car seats, center fill gasoline fueling, suspended-type power

Many Taxpayers Make Error Of Filing On Wrong Form

(This timely column of "Do's and Don'ts for Your Income Tax" is written by Donald A. Robbins, Sr., with offices in Tannersville, Allentown, Reading and Harrisburg for tax consultation-advisory services, income tax services and simplified record keeping services for all types of business.)

The Internal Revenue bureau announced a few weeks ago that seven out of ten taxpayers are overpaying on their taxes. If you prepare your own return it is good business to seek consultation and advisory service from a source that guarantees their information to be correct.

pivot clutch and brake pedals and a dash-mounted master brake cylinder," Mr. Buck said.

"A greatly increased use of safety glass makes our cars much safer to drive, and all four-door models have rear-door safety locks as standard equipment."

"Ford is the world's largest builder of V-8 engines and has built more than 12,000,000—more than four times as many as all other manufacturers combined. The Ford Strato-Star V-8 engine—proved over billions of miles of rugged service—is more powerful than ever, with an increase from 100 to 110 horsepower this year," Mr. Buck said.

"In addition, we are introducing the new 101-horsepower Ford Mileage Maker Six, a high-compression, low-friction engine produced after four years of intensive research and testing."

Both Ford engines are designed to operate on regular gasolines and embody many features found only in more costly cars, such as aluminum, auto-thermic pistons, full-pressure lubrication, free-turning valves and weather-tight ignition.

"The new engine is an overhead valve six that sets the pace for the industry," Mr. Buck said. "Ford's expansion program provided for the construction of a completely new engine plant at Cleveland, O., to manufacture this engine, and the facilities in this 'wonder plant' are the most advanced available."

on Form 1040 and claim the standard deduction. Or, if the allowable deductions listed on page 3 of the return will total more than 10% of adjusted gross income you will save on your tax payments by using the long form on Form 1040. Suppose your adjusted gross income is over $5,000. You then have an election. By taking advantage of the same you can save considerably in your tax payment.

Many do not understand the proper procedure in claiming allowable deductions not included in the standard deduction. For instance, employees with expenses while away from home on business. They may find their adjusted gross income by deducting auto, railroad, taxi and other fares, meals lodging, telephone, tips, etc., etc. from their pay but they cannot deduct entertaining, gifts, dues, working clothes, etc., etc. The latter expenses are deductible only when the standard deduction is not used.

There will be more on this subject soon dealing with the potential savings to persons who rent property, hold securities, operate a business or profession.

Today's final reminder in avoiding a common error is in suggesting, if you are married, that the impressive advantages of filing a

Donald Tinney Custom Plans Your Kitchen

If you are an ardent follower of the homemaking magazines, you've probably been fascinated by the beautiful pictures of furniture arrangement and unique innovations.

A predominant trend to day in room decor is the "built-in" look. Building costs and a modern housewife's desire for more efficiency in her home have heralded an era of more compact furniture arrangements.

Furniture designers are meeting the homemaker's desire for furnishings that meet the new trend's requirements. But much of the new "built-in" look is acquired only through custom made furnishings.

A strict adherence to compactness and the creation of smooth, unbroken lines in furniture arrangement can be obtained more readily through custom work. In this way an entire room is taken into consideration and a unified, harmonious plan can be followed. Cabinet Maker Donald Tinney, of 1128 N. Fifth St., Stroudsburg, has had extensive experience in creating distinctive home appointments and making repairs on fine furniture.

No matter whether it's a foot stool or a complete bedroom suite, each piece that leaves Tinney's modern shop is made to exact specifications of the customer.

To save a considerable amount of money in filing a joint return is to follow a very simple procedure. If there are sufficient requests for more facts on this common error your author will be pleased to publish full instructions relative to this subject.

SEDAN WHICH crashed into a Snyder'sville milkhouse is shown after the accident at 9:50 a. m. yesterday. Police said driver, a Philadelphia resident, was uninjured. icy spot on the road was blamed for the accident.

TWO MEN were injured when this car, traveling on Route 12, skidded across the Route 209 intersection to strike Fitzgerald's antique shop in Snyder'sville. Driver blamed wet condition of the highway for the accident.

Two Persons Suffer Hurts

Snyder'sville — Two passengers were injured when a car came down Route 12, skidded across the intersection at Route 209 and hit a building at 1:15 a.m. Saturday.

Pfc. Ed Benesi and Pfc. Joseph Murphy, of the Stroudsburg State police, listed the driver as Donald Kemmerer, 23, of 701 Sarah St., Stroudsburg.

One passenger, Arthur Bunnell, 1214 W. Main St., Stroudsburg, was admitted to the General Hospital for treatment of head and face cuts and bruises.

The other, Harry B. Hummell, 20 Fetherman St., Stroudsburg, was released from the hospital after seven stitches were taken to close a gash in his neck caused by broken windshield glass.

A family member said Hummell returned to the hospital yesterday after his right forearm began to swell. An X-ray showed a fracture. The arm was placed in a cast and Hummell was again released. The husky foundry worker went to a movie last night.

Kemmerer told police he saw the stop sign at the intersection and applied his brakes. The car skidded on the wet, cindered highway, he said, went across Route 209 and struck the building.

The building houses an antique shop operated by Frank Fitzgerald. Police said some stucco was knocked loose, the side panning of the window was damaged, and several panes of glass broken.

Investigation of the accident is continuing, police said.

Milkhouse At Snyder'sville Damaged In $1,000 Accident

Snyder'sville—An auto crashed into a concrete block milkhouse here at 9:50 a. m. yesterday and caused total damages of $1,000.

Pfc. Alex G. Kern of the Stroudsburg State police listed the driver as Nat Carson, 41, Philadelphia, who was driving west on Route 209.

Carson told police his car skidded on an icy spot as he rounded a curve and came down a decline into Snyder'sville. The car went out of control, left the highway and crashed into the milk house, located on the Elmer Rinehart property.

The front portion of the car knocked out a number of the concrete blocks and came to rest just inside the milk house. Police listed $400 damage to the auto and $600 to the building. Carson, they said, was uninjured.

So Much Eyewash!

President Truman says presidential primaries are so much eyewash and he doesn't need to run in one of them to get the Democratic nomination.

As a practical organization politician, Mr. Truman knows what he is talking about.

Primaries are so much eyewash because the machine politicians have made them so. Mr. Truman doesn't need to run in a primary because he knows he controls the machinery for picking delegates.

Candidates such as Mr. Truman make primaries meaningless by not running in them. Voters shun primaries in droves because they do not have a free choice of candidates. That's the grist for the political machine.

When the voters don't have a free choice in a primary, it is that much easier for the politicians to rig a convention.

It is easier to deal with delegates beholden, in one way or another, to a political machine than it is to persuade free and independent voters.

That's why presidential primaries, for the most part, are so much eyewash.

Never Put Off . . .

The credulity of the cop, never a highly developed characteristic of law officers, is being put to its usual test these days by the men and women who just didn't get around to applying for their 1952 driver's licenses and the new inspection sticker before last night, the date on which both were due.

Come each February 1, and there is the annual avalanche of dilatory citizens or their mail applications at the Department of Revenue, where long lines of impatient applicants urge the clerks to expedite their essential documents. What the clerks have to say is a matter of record, but not in this newspaper.

So it seems that the determination of many never to put off today anything that can be done better now than tomorrow is not shared by another large segment of the population whose battle cry has always been to put off everything possible, and as long as possible!

And if you would like to hear some interesting excuses for not having the new ticket, ask any trooper who has found the motorist lacking his necessary card. Old man Ananias was a piker compared to the 1952 model of citizen who feels that he is being dealt with unjustly if asked to produce a 1952 license when the time for it has arrived.

Another Shortage

President Truman's attack on Sen. Joe McCarthy as a character assassin poses a nice question: How do all the character assassins in Washington keep so busy if there is so little character to assassinate?

Example

That remodeling job on the White House drags on and on.

Various reasons have been assigned for the delay: Materials shortages, the difficulty of the reconstruction problem and so on.

One of the architects now gives an additional reason—the extreme care with which the job is being done.

When the project is finished, he said, the White House will be a fine building, "distinguished by craftsmanship."

Let's hope it sets an example for the next tenant.

My New York

—By Mel Heimer

MY NEW YORK . . . ET HEIMER

New York—George McManus has been telling bits of his remarkable life story in Collier's lately and it makes for fine, lusty reading, but I notice that George has been overly, even falsely, modest about one item. He makes no serious mention of the fact that he is the indestructible iron of the ages.

About once a year, the creator of Bringing Up Father comes east from his California home to catch up on the feel and flavor of Manhattan, where in his youth he had so many good times.

Now, George no longer is a youth—but he has neglected to take notice of this hard fact. For him, it's wonderful; for his friends (who really welcome his visits warmly), it means taking a three-week physical refresher course beforehand, to keep up with the McManus.

When he is here, George sees all his old friends, visits the plushier night clubs, appears on television and radio programs—and continues to turn out his famous comic strip. He does all this on no sleep whatever.

One of the mutual delights enjoyed by McManus and his friends is his telling of jokes; he loves to tell them and they love to listen to them, since he is one of the master story-tellers of the era. However, the very situation places his friends in a furious emotional strain. They don't want to miss his next joke, and yet by 5 a. m., when George is still bright as a button, they can't stay awake long enough to hear it.

I remember visiting George out on the west coast five or six years ago. He asked me to breakfast with him and Zeke Zekley, his assistant—and I discovered that breakfast meant 8 a. m., on the terrace of the Beverly Hills hotel.

Eight a. m. may be noon to an honest, hardworking Iowa farmer, but to a New York newspaperman who spends so much time prowling in saloons, clubs and other nocturnal dens of vice, it's the middle of the night.

You should have seen George, that 8 a. m. He told me he'd gone to bed about 2:30 or 3—and he looked ready to play six sets of tennis. Clear-eyed and so healthy looking it was actually disgusting.

George tells in his magazine pieces about one result of his penchant for staying up late and enjoying himself. When columnist Bugs Baer married Louise, the one-time Ziegfeld Follies performer (who was the guiding spirit of the Hart Fund until her sad death so recently), they went to Chicago on a wedding trip.

McManus and a lot of King Feature Syndicate employees and executives were on the same train, on a promotional trip to Chicago—and Bugs made the fatal mistake of strolling out of his drawing room that wedding night to show George a bright purple smoking jacket that Louise had given him. He didn't get back to Louise until 5 a. m.

The next morning, George met the Baers at breakfast. "Good morning George," Louise said sweetly. "That's the first time I ever heard of anybody staying out all night on a train."

Some of you may remember the year 1928, when Arnold Rothstein was shot and killed in front of a New York hotel. McManus tells in the magazine articles how he tied in with that indirectly.

The police were hunting a gambler named George McManus for questioning in the case—so the real George, so to speak, was bombarded with telegrams, out on the coast, from his New York friends, reading, "Lie low. Have hidden overcoat," and "See you in Honduras. No extradition there." "For a while," George says, "some

These Days - - By George E. Sokolsky

The Position of Douglas MacArthur

The fact is that in many parts of the United States a notable grass-roots movement has appeared for "MacArthur for President."

In some places, the support for the candidacy of General Douglas MacArthur is stronger than that for any other candidate.

To all who have inquired of him concerning this, General MacArthur has replied that he is not a candidate and that of those who are currently in the field, he favors Senator Robert A. Taft.

It has been suggested by some that General MacArthur assert that he would not under any circumstances be a candidate. It is not in the nature of General MacArthur to presume what he would do in circumstances of which he currently has no knowledge. However, it is apparent in all conversations that he is sincere in his lack of aspiration for the post and in his support of Taft.

In his letter withdrawing his name from the New Hampshire primaries, General MacArthur makes his position quite clear: "In reflecting upon my own responsibility of citizenship, I have felt that I could contribute infinitely more to the high purposes involved if not personally seeking political office through the entry or use of my name in connection with any State primary."

But in that same letter, he goes further to define the type of President whom he would prefer. This paragraph, it would seem to me, might form a model for candidates of all parties this year or any other year. I quote: "Every American citizen shares equally the constitutional responsibility of doing all in his power to restore and preserve our sacred American free institutions and to secure a reorientation of policy patterned to serve our impelling national needs and requirements. To this high purpose the immediate demand upon the citizen lies in the selection of a national leadership of demonstrated capability in the science of civil government, of unimpeachable dedication to our country's constitutional precepts and great traditions, and one whose wisdom is founded upon broad administrative experience, with the moral courage to face and resolve the public issues of the day without compromise of principle."

General MacArthur is a literary stylist and uses words to express rather than to repress thought. Thus the use of the phrase, "restore . . . our sacred American free institutions," clearly means that they have been damaged. It is an overt assertion that the Roosevelt and Truman Administrations have failed in the maintenance of a basic American philosophy.

Similarly, his phrase, "a national leadership of demonstrated capability in the science of civil government," excludes General Dwight Eisenhower, who has never had anything to do with civil government in this country. It comes as close to a direct attack on Eisenhower's candidacy as MacArthur has yet made. Senator Taft, who correctly caught the fitness of this idea as applied to General Eisenhower.

I am certain that this statement is only laying a basis for similar and more pointed attacks, ending in the use of General Eisenhower's name, although General MacArthur is reticent about starting a five-star general's battle as part of a political campaign. He relieved General Eisenhower when the latter was a junior officer associated with him in the Philippines. He will not discuss that or Eisenhower's activities in connection with the Bonus March, for which Herbert Hoover and MacArthur have had to accept full credit or discredit, whichever it may be.

Further, the use of the phrase, "without compromise of principle," is General MacArthur's way of attacking "McToonism," particularly in relation to the foreign policy. Before this campaign is over, the meeting at the President's office on April 6, 1951, on the subject of the dismissal of General MacArthur, will have to be discussed openly. The question will have to be considered as to who was there, what was said, and why General MacArthur was dismissed. This is still a closed book and the General has never been told precisely why he was dismissed.

(In this connection, "The Freeman" magazine is now issuing a supplement entitled "Prelude to Disaster," dealing with the dismissal of General Douglas MacArthur, which I prepared from the record of the Russell Committee reports. This establishes beyond doubt that the Joint Chiefs of Staff agreed to MacArthur's program for handling the Korean War.)

The political position of General Douglas MacArthur cannot be ignored, as it now has the support of large segments of the Republican Party and influences large numbers of Democrats. What it will amount to in delegates and votes has, of course, yet to be seen.

Washington Report

—by Fulton Lewis, Jr.

Washington, Feb. 3—A small group of young Republicans in Oregon, with no visible means of financial support but with ample evidence of political immaturity, are trying to force Sen. Robert A. Taft into the State's primary contest on May 16. It seems unlikely that they will succeed.

Taft's managers say he has neither the time nor the money for the Oregon race. Some Republicans and no small number of Democrats already are charging that he thereby is ducking an important primary fight.

Petitions for the entry of the two generals, Eisenhower and MacArthur, already have been signed and filed. Gov. Earl Warren, of California, and Harold Stassen, are bird-dogging the state to survey their chances and probably will enter the race, but without Taft in the contest, most seasoned politicians realize, the May 16 vote will be almost meaningless.

At the recent San Francisco GOP National Committee meeting both David Ingalls and Tom Coleman, Taft's top strategists, declared that the Senator had no plans to enter the Oregon battle. They explained that there is no use for a candidate to enter a primary fight unless he is willing to go all out, both with cash and a speech-making tour. It would take up to $75,000 or so, to conduct an Oregon primary campaign, and both members of Taft's high command say they haven't got that kind of money to spend there.

Despite this political realism a group of "spokesmen," identified as Young Republicans, but up to now unidentified by name, are making a lot of noise in Portland and elsewhere around Oregon concerning Taft's lack of interest in the state. They haven't said a word about money so far, and apparently are unaware that it takes some of the green stuff in any kind of a political contest.

So far their political activities are confined to being interviewed by reporters who quote them as saying that the Ohio Senator owes it to the party to enter the Oregon primary. They argue that if Taft has the time and money to enter the Wisconsin primary, he surely must have the time and money for the Oregon race.

Under the surface it appears that this political harassment is generated mostly by Warren or Stassen backers, who say they are anxious for a showdown fight with Taft. Their anxiety, however, has not led either of the avowed candidates for the GOP nomination to enter the Wisconsin primary. Taft long ago announced he would be in that scrap and stated that he would take on all comers in it.

If Warren's strength in Oregon can be measured accurately, it is about the same as in his own state—doubtful. Stassen, who has an appeal to westerners, probably would do better and is likely to enter the race in Oregon. If he can raise the money, The Eisenhower and MacArthur strength is unknown, and in both cases political amateurs are handling the details.

On the basis of West coast interest in Pacific wars, and the reaction to MacArthur's firing and return to this country, it would seem that MacArthur ought to lead Eisenhower in popularity in Oregon. But Eisenhower's backers are working harder than MacArthur's, and in any primary fight the most work is likely to produce the most results.

Actually the Oregon primary, despite what GOP politicians might say at present, lacks the importance it generated in 1948. In that campaign Dewey and Stassen fought it out, with the latter going down to defeat. Stassen was the only real threat to Dewey at the time, so the battle drew nation-wide interest.

Try And Stop Me

—by Bennet Cerf

An editor of a New York paper asked his precocious daughter what she wanted for her seventh birthday. "Either a bike or a television set," she answered. Later he heard her confide to her mother, "I knew he'd never let me ride a bike in city traffic. That's how I trapped him."

Berliners who still retain a vestige of humor say the pretty girls know all about soldiers of the various occupying forces by this time. The Russian soldiers kidnap them, the French make eyes at them, the Americans marry them—and the British rush back to England to divorce their wives.

Voting machines were used for the first time in a certain midwestern city this year. One citizen, displeased with election results, observed, "Those devices are exactly like the slot-machines in Las Vegas and Reno. You pull down the lever and up come the lemons."

Looking At Life —by Erich Brandeis

IF I were king, I would pass a law that every preacher of doom should be hanged by the neck until dead.

In my opinion these preachers of doom are much more harmful to this country than all the Communists together.

And who are they? Where are they?

They are everywhere.

It seems to have become the fashion to belittle this country of ours and its people.

You can't turn on your radio or your television, you can't go to a meeting, without having to listen to these blown-up frogs croaking, "DOOM, DOOM, DOOM."

I am sick and tired of being told that I am going to hell. I am sick and tired of being notified that this country has become a country of criminals and degenerates.

I am sick and tired of having a lot of two-by-four politicians and commentators tell me that America has become a land in which everybody bribes everybody else, in which parents do not know how to educate their children, in which crooks and gamblers run our city, county and federal governments.

Don't misunderstand me. I don't like our present government any too well.

I think it is weak, inefficient, infested by termites, and that it should be changed.

But that doesn't make our PEOPLE weak, inefficient and corrupt.

I have been in every nook and people eyed me with, if not outright suspicion, a sort of thoughtful speculation.

George usually tries to avoid the theaters when he hits town; he likes to look back on the days of the diving horses at the Hippodrome as real theater.

In the last three seasons here, he has seen Oklahoma, which left him cold; A Streetcar Named Desire, on which he walked out after one act; and The King and I, which he slept through. Chie Young, who went with him to The King, asked him afterward what he thought of it and George said "Ah, I don't think that's much of a show."

In all my travels I have never once met a gambler, a briber, a grafter, a crook.

What I have met—and met all the time—are people who are careless, who don't take any interest in politics, who have no idea of their civic responsibility, who don't give a rap for their franchise until it is too late.

That is what the politicians thrive on.

It isn't the voter who has made this country a plaything for the shysters and the crooks.

It's the non-voter.

The price of liberty is constant alertness. That's what the mink-coat and deep-freeze set know. That's how they get into your pockets. When you are not looking—that's when they get in.

The trouble with good people is that they think everybody else is as good as they are.

Picture your home as a safe in which your money and your jewels are stored. Leave the door open, leave the safe unwatched—and bingo a thief will get in.

THERE IS NOTHING WRONG WITH AMERICA!

State-of-the Union messages notwithstanding.

Huge, flat icebergs found in the Arctic are under consideration as observation stations for scientists and weather men. They make good landing strips.

Stroudsburg High school's 61-57 basketball victory over Palmyra on Friday was one of the sweetest triumphs ever accounted for by the Mountaineers. Although the W. Main St. cagers had come close to upsetting the Blue Bombers, they could never quite make the grade during the past four years. However, with five men going the distance, the charges of Coach Sam Russell weren't to be denied, as they led almost all the way, except for a brief time late in the ball game when the score was deadlocked.

The physical condition of the Mountaineers was also established, at least that of the five who played the entire distance on Friday is concerned. When five men go the route in the modern game of slam-bang basketball, it's something to write home about. Thirty-two minutes of race-horse basketball is tough on the constitution, but the kids who carried the maroon and white colors against Palmyra turned in a magnificent job from start to finish. The victory was scored without the services of Karl Weingartner, who is out with a chipped bone in his right ankle. However, Karl is expected back by Friday.

East Stroudsburg on the other hand ran into a power-packed Hellertown contingent that proved very deceiving at an initial glance. The Lehigh-Northampton League first-half title holder presented one of the smallest, in stature, squads this writer has ever seen competing for a title. Only one man on the visiting red and black clad machine could even be vaguely termed tall, while his teammates were extremely small as measured by present day standards. However, Hellertown has adopted a page from the book written by Rhode Island State some years ago, which urges a multitude of shots and extreme faith in the percentages.

Hellertown demonstrated a terrific shooting percentage against the Cavaliers, especially on the difficult attempts, and with two men glued to Ray Steele, went on to hang up a 91-61 victory. Despite having two men clawing at his shirt tail all night, Steele came up with 27 points and unless the very unexpected happens, Ray appears to be a certainty as far as the center position is concerned on the all-league team. Ray picked up nine points in the first half and 18 sprinkled through the third and fourth rounds.

Although Hellertown demonstrated that it is plenty long on that stuff termed ability, this writer will be pleasantly surprised if the club goes far in the post season playoffs. First, Hellertown's lack of altitude is bound to hurt before the present campaign passes into history, while secondly, the club misses an elementary shot or two each game and this could prove fatal before the curtain comes down on the 1951-1952 campaign.

Probably the biggest basketball oddity of the season, as far as Stroudsburg and East Stroudsburg High schools are concerned, ended on Friday. Each of the local squads came up with 61 points and the result was a split. It was only a week or so ago that each team tallied 61 markers, only that time it resulted in a victory for East Stroudsburg over Penn Argyll and a loss for Stroudsburg at the hands of Northampton. I wonder if the nearness of the final scores could mean that the second basketball "Battle of the Boroughs" will be a carbon copy of the first?

Jerry Stulgaitis, Jack Kist, and Gene Martin, football coaches at Stroudsburg High, East Stroudsburg High and East Stroudsburg State Teachers College respectively, are scheduled to attend a football clinic in Atlantic City on Monday, February 25 through Thursday, February 28. The group is slated to stay at the Hotel Dennis. Jim Heller, veteran football and basketball official from Bethlehem, was a spectator at the Stroudsburg-Palmyra battle on Friday, while visiting with T. Manning "Cap" Curtis, athletic director at Stroudsburg High.

What's this stuff about Al Scavo forming a barber-shop quartet? I wonder if it has anything to do with the mysterious program being staged by the Stroudsburg High school Varsity "S" clubs. The official date for the affair, whatever it is, has been listed for Wednesday, February 27. Alden "Red" Fetherman's defensive job of holding Fred Oravee to seven points on Friday is still the talk of the borough.

Two incidents have occurred in a league which is widely represented in this area within the span of the last two weeks and it might be a good idea if a meeting of the circuit would be called to at least attempt to see that incidents of this type don't happen again—at least this season. Good sportsmanship may not be a major factor in winning and losing basketball games, but it does make victories seem that much fuller and defeats very much less damaging.

Bethlehem Rated Number One Scholastic Cage Machine In East By Associated Press Scribe

By Ben French
Harrisburg, Pa. (AP)—Pennsylvania's list of major unbeaten schoolboy basketball teams stood at three yesterday following a weekend flurry of upsets.

Williamsport, which had won its first 12 games, lost a 47-43 decision to Shamokin, runner up in the first half of the Keystone league. Williamsport already has clinched a spot in the District Four playoffs.

Farrell, Punxsutawney and Washington continued their winning ways with Punxsutawney having the most trouble in marking up its thirteenth straight against Altoona, 57-35.

Farrell and Washington took their seventeenth games with ease to remain the chief threats to the WPIAL Class "A" title.

Farrell, defending western titlist, downed Ellwood City, 69-38, while Washington walloped Clark 84-28. Washington journeys to Mt. Lebanon tomorrow night to protect its three-game lead in the Section Four race while Farrell meets Butler holding a two-game margin in Section Three.

Surprise
Kingston upset once-beaten Newport Township, 82-69, to give Nanticoke's defending champions the first round title of the Wyoming Valley league without a playoff. Nanticoke made it official with a 57-40 decision over Berwick.

Old Forge snared the first leg on the Lackawanna league trophy with a 88-52 defeat of runner-up Taylor in the other major District Two circuit.

Greenburg, which had taken over first place in Section Two of the WPIAL by beating North Huntingdon last Tuesday night, fell back into a tie for the top spot Friday by being upset by Hurst, 54-40. Uniontown dropped its first in Section Ten when it was surprised by North Union, 47-41.

Holidaysburg, first-round winner in District Six's Mountain league, dropped a 56-54 decision to Mount Union in still another upset.

Bethlehem, now rated as the state's top quintet, administered its second straight defeat to Allentown's defending PIAA Class "A" state champions, 54-53, in starting the second half of the East Penn league. The Hurricanes travel to Easton — only team to stop Bethlehem in 14 games, tomorrow night.

Warriorettes Run Wild To Sink Rider In Opening Tilt

Coach Genevieve Zimbar watched her East Stroudsburg State Teachers College girls' basketball team give the veteran cage mentor a fine sendoff in her twenty-ninth year at the helm of the Warriorettes with a convincing 43-17 victory over Rider College on Saturday, in the Normal Hill gymnasium.

Jane Moffet led the scoring parade for the red and black color bearers in their initial appearance on the hardwood in the 1952 campaign.

Moffet totaled 17 markers, an seven goals from the floor and three from the foul line, while five of the high scoring forward's mates also broke into the point column.

ESSTC left 9-3 at the end of the first period and stretched the advantage to 18-9 at the halfway mark.

It was even more one-sided in the second half, as the Warriorettes held a 10-4 edge in the third period and a 15-1 advantage during the fourth round.

The outcome of the game was never in doubt as the home team dominated the action from start to finish.

Eagles Bow To Bangor

Rams Pin Warriors In Wrestling, 29-7

East Stroudsburg State Teachers College suffered its third wrestling defeat in as many trips to the mat this season on Saturday, when the Warriors fell before West Chester State Teachers College, 29-7.

Ralph Wagner, Art Schaare and Ken Cox accounted for all the home team's points, which turned out to be two more than the combined total scored against Wilkes College and Lock Haven in the first two matches.

Wagner won a 5-4 decision over West Chester's Charley Miller in the 130-pound division, while Schaare battled Bob McNeil, West Chester, to a draw in the 157-pound-bout and Cox turned in a similar performance against Dick Walters, Rams' 177-pounder.

West Chester meanwhile registered five falls in the eight-bouts on the regular agenda.

However, the Rams also turned in a sixth fall in an exhibition match that pitted a pair of 187-pounders against each other, Tom Sorensen, ESSTC, was pinned by West Chester's Harry Ober.

The red and black clad charges of Coach George Ockershausen return to action on Saturday, against Ithaca College, on the New York school's home mat.

Summary follows:

123-Lee Bohner (WC) pinned Frank Pretry, 1:14 of second period.

128-Ralph Wagner (ES) dethroned Charley Miller, 5-4.

137-Charley Schaare (WC) pinned Pete Cantelli, 1:16 of second period.

147-Art Schaare (ES) drew with Bob McNeil, 2-2.

167-Earl Hartlieb (WC) pinned Bob Knapp, 2:52 of second period.

Pirates Sign Trio Of Players

Pittsburgh (AP)—Pitchers Bill Koski, Bob Curtis and Paul LaPalme signed 1952 contracts to bring to 11 the number of players in the Pittsburgh Pirate fold.

Pitchers

Koski, 20, won four and lost nine with the New Orleans farm club in the Southern Association last year. Curtis won three and lost eight with Indianapolis in the American Association. LaPalme, a southpaw, won one and lost five for Pittsburgh after coming up from Indianapolis and New Orleans.

Snow Balls For Official

Rome (AP)—An angry mob snowballed the referee in Treviglio at the end of a soccer game between two local squads, the Italian news agency ANSA reported yesterday.

ANSA said the snowballs were of such size that the referee was able to leave the dressing room only under a heavy police escort.

Penn State Nears Record

State College, Pa.—Penn State was only a game away from its longest basketball winning streak last night as the Nittany Lions returned home from a 61-60 upset at West Virginia.

The surprising Lions won their eleventh straight game Saturday night when they overcame a four-point deficit in the last minute to hand the Mountaineers their second loss in 16 games.

West Virginia was ranked tenth in last week's AP collegiate basketball poll while State was far behind in twenty-four places.

"No one should beat West Virginia in the last minute on its home floor," Coach Elmer Gross remarked on his return home.

Penn State meets Rutgers Wednesday and Georgetown Saturday at Recreation Hall where a Lion quintet always has been practically unbeatable. Nine of their first 14 games have been played on foreign floors.

Kutztown Pro Draws Down Top Prize In Tucson Open Tourney

Tucson, Ariz., (AP)—Henry Williams Jr., of Kutztown, Pa., a golf pro who looks like a professor, played it safe yesterday and won the $10,000 Tucson Open. His one-over-par 71 gave him a 72-hole total of 274 and his first major golf victory.

A shot that stuck in a tree 15 feet above the ground was blamed by Cary Middlecoff, Memphis, Tenn., for costing him the title. The ex-dentist had a 67 yesterday for a total of 276, two strokes behind the 35-year-old Williams.

Brawny Skee Riegel, Tulsa, Okla., missed a short putt on the eighteenth to take a 72 yesterday for a total of 278 and third place.

For the second day, a tricky wind swept across the flat 6,402-yard par 70 El Rio golf and country club course to send scores soaring. Williams' total was the highest to win in the eight-year history of the event. His card was 68-65-70-71—274.

Fourth Place

Frank Stranahan, Toledo, O., amateur who shot a sensational 61 Friday, went below par for a 69 yesterday and a total of 279. This gave him a fourth place tie with Professionals Joe Moore Jr., White Plains, N. Y., and Lloyd Mangrum, of Chicago.

Ralph Blomquist, Los Angeles, who started the final round, two strokes behind Williams, in second place, went five over par yesterday for 75 and a total of 280. He was one stroke in front of Johnny Palmer, Badin, N. C., and Doug Ford, Harrison, Ky.

Middlecoff started the final 18 holes six strokes behind Williams in a five-way tie for eighth place. He clicked out four birdies on the first nine, while Williams was going one over par, to come within one stroke of a tie at that point.

Williams said, "I played it safe. I figured that if I shot even par today that would be good enough to win. I didn't take chances on any hole and played golf the conservative way. I had a chance to win here last year. I blew it. I wasn't going to do the same thing again."

His only other professional tournament victory was the Philadelphia Open which he won last September.

Williams is an annual performer at Shawnee-on-Delaware in the Philadelphia PGA and other tournaments held on the Monroe county course.

Another Meeting

Boechchio said he planned to see Norris again today but added no time or place had been agreed upon for the meeting.

Norris said he saw no reason why Walcott should not go through with his contract to give Charles a return bout.

Walcott claims he "hasn't made a dime" off the title he won from Charles in Pittsburgh last July and wants release from his IBC contract so he can accept a reported $250,000 offer from a Las Vegas, Nev., hotel operator for a fight with light heavyweight Matthews.

Boechchio said he had tentatively accepted the offer from Bill Clark, the hotel operator, and that Walcott would fight Matthews first unless Norris' IBC would match or better the offer.

Biddy Basketball Action

A pair of Biddy Basketball League games are on the agenda for this afternoon at the Monroe County YMCA. Wyckoff-Sears and the Colonial Diner come to blows at 4 p.m., while Line Material and Clemens' Service Station clash one-half hour later.

Eastern League Lists Schedule

New York (AP)—The Eastern Baseball League will play a 140-game schedule this year, running from April 23 to September 7.

Visiting Crew Held To Two Favorable Nods

West Chester — East Stroudsburg State Teachers College dropped eight of ten swimming events here on Saturday and the West Chester Teachers went on to hang up a comfortable 57-27 victory in a dual meet in the winning team's home pool.

The victory was the second in five meets for the West Chester pupils of Coach Ed Twardowski, while ESSTC, under the guidance of Coach Frank Grimm, has lost both of its starts thus far in the 1952 campaign.

East Stroudsburg was able to win only the 200-yard backstroke and the 400-yard freestyle event.

Individuals

Paul Kokulus splashed to victory in the backstroke event, while a team of Gene Talgo, Dick Ashner, Barton Conrad and Tom Foley streaked to victory in the final event.

West Chester, paced by Millard Freeman, former West Chester High tank ace, won the first six events on the agenda, before the visiting ESSTC squad could break into the winner's circle.

Richards Leads In Voting

Boston, (AP)—Track writers yesterday lauded the Rev. Bob Richards' fifteenth and sixteenth vaults above the magic 15-foot mark as the Boston A. A. meet's outstanding performance.

The soaring parson from LaVerne, Calif., topped the voting for the John J. Hallahan Memorial trophy with 55 points, including seven first place ballots from the 15 writers polled.

Relay Team

Manhattan College's sensational one mile relay combination of Ron Ferraro, Lou Jones, Vern Dixon and Bob Carty earned 31 points in the Hallahan voting for its 3:17.2 clocking—fastest ever recorded on an 11-lap indoor track.

Gehrmann bettered 4:09 for the second time in 24 hours while trimming FBI-man Fred Wilt in his usual hare-and-flounder fashion Saturday night. The slender Wisconsin alumnus bolted past Wilt with about one-half lap to go and won by 12 yards in 4:08.9.

24,500 Speeders Lose Licenses

Harrisburg (AP) — Speeders accounted yesterday for more than half of the 43,000 motorists who lost their driving privileges on Pennsylvania highways in 1951.

Revenue Secretary Otto F. Messner said 24,500 operators saw their licenses suspended for exceeding speed limits, of which more than 10,000 were out-of-state motorists.

Drunken driving was responsible for most of 3,261 revocations imposed by the department last year.

Car Shears Old Signs On Route 611

Tobyhanna —A fast-moving car went out of control, traveled down the center island on Route 611 here and sheared off two metal signs, according to a resident here yesterday.

The resident said the accident occurred Friday morning as he himself was driving north down the grade from St. Alphonsus Retreat house.

A car passed him "doing about 90 miles an hour," he said, and upon reaching the sharp curve at the bottom it climbed the island and snapped off the "Tobyhanna" and the "Tobyhanna Signal Depot" directional marker before coming to rest.

An approaching Greyhound bus stopped and its driver climbed out to assist, according to the resident. The driver of the damaged car also got out, looked at the dented side of his car, then got back in and continued driving north, the resident said.

Mount Pocono State police received no report of the accident.

Missing Nazi Reported In Rome Cloister

Berlin (AP) — A former Nazi claimed yesterday that Martin Bormann, the long missing deputy of Adolf Hitler, is living the life of a Franciscan monk in a Rome cloister. But a Vatican source described the claim as "Nazi speculation," aimed at discrediting the Allies in Germany.

The story came from Eberhard Stern, 42, who has close connections with many former high Nazis. Since the war he has led several rightist political movements in Berlin—none of them successful.

The Vatican source said Stern's story, which appeared in the Berlin Telegram, had been examined previously by a magazine published in Munich and discovered to be without foundation. A German monk in the Rome cloister also denied the report.

Bormann's fate has been a subject for speculation since he disappeared during the final days of World War Two. Some say he is dead and others that he is hiding would-be captors and is in hiding.

Stern told interviewers he was positive a monk known as Frater Martini (Brother Martin) was Bormann, only missing member of the high ranking clique that died in the flaming ruins of Hitler's Berlin chancellery in April, 1945. Bormann was sentenced to death in absentia at the Nuernberg trials of Nazi war criminals in 1946.

Stern said the monk told him "you see I am alive and I do not wish to be disturbed" when he talked to him in Rome on Jan. 16.

School Budget Increases 1 Per Cent Since 1939

(This is the first in a series of articles outlining increases in school operating costs in the borough of Stroudsburg from 1939 to the present.)

By Leonard Randolph

The rise in operating cost of most Monroe county schools is well-reflected in a study of the budget for the borough of Stroudsburg school district.

Since 1939 Stroudsburg school directors have increased their budget from $148,930.72 to $312,299.62 for the current school year.

A portion of this increase may be attributed to changes in the size of student enrollment. The great majority, however, is directly traceable to a rise in the cost of equipment, textbooks, building maintenance and teachers' salaries.

In short—the "high cost of living" has invaded the classroom.

During the 1939-40 school year, Stroudsburg's $148,930.72 budget was taken care of by a 22-mill property tax and five dollars per capita on all tax-paying residents of the borough. Funds derived from these two primary tax sources amounted to $104,742.63.

Of the remaining $44,188.09 Stroudsburg received $22,000 in appropriated funds from the Commonwealth; $14,188.09 in tuition from non-resident students and $8,000 from income described as "miscellaneous."

Non-resident students at Stroudsburg came from Stroud, Hamilton, Smithfield, Ross and Paradise townships, Portland, Delaware Water Gap, Upper Mt. Bethel and Mount Pocono. These non-resident tuitions are paid by the school districts, township or borough, in which they live. Stroudsburg also receives tuition fees from private sources.

In 1939 Stroudsburg property was assessed at $4,182,165. One year later it had dropped to $4,069,370.

The school budget dropped during the same period—to $144,791.72 for the 1940-41 school year. Some $89,526.14 of this budget was paid off by a 22-mill property tax with an additional $11,680 collected in per capita taxes—a total of $101,206.14.

During this school year the borough school directors collected $89,428.24 in property tax and $10,525 in per capita taxation to make up $99,953.24 of the overall budget.

State-appropriated funds fell slightly during the school year. In 1942-43, State paid a $23,000 share of Stroudsburg's education ticket. Non-resident students accounted for their share of the budget as outlying districts contributed $18,180 to the consolidated school's expenses. Miscellaneous income was tabulated at $6,976.76 for the year.

The years between 1939 and 1943 were not, apparently, heavy inflation years. A two-year decrease in budgetary allotment, during 1940-42, had been displaced by 1942's abrupt rise.

Within the next few years, the beginnings of inflation were to become more easily recognizable, however, with the pinch of wartime austerity (American brand) making itself felt in budgets everywhere.

The real trouble was just around the corner.

Captain's Words Recalled As Liner Runs Into Storm During Last Half Of Voyage

By Ruth Haller Ottaway

Editor's Note: Following is the third in a series of reports from Britain and Europe by Ruth Haller Ottaway, author of James H. Ottaway, publisher of The Daily Record. The writer is an experienced journalist and traveler and her reports from abroad in recent years have received a favorable reception by Record readers.

By Ruth Haller Ottaway

S. S. Ile de France—Pride goeth before a fall, and boasting of sunny days before a storm. No southern route could have given us calmer seas or more azure skies half the way over. Then the wind began to blow and the ship to roll. Ha! Ha! What is a little roll? It is fun. We like it. These were the general comments.

But when deck-chairs were deserted for cabins we found that we, the all-knowing, atomic-age men, were longing for suction pads on our feet as we performed the acrobatic stunts of floor. (We hope that no one steals this idea and invents suction pads for the feet. That would make two more bulging things to pack a sheer impossibility.)

Dressing for dinner was a victory of mind over matter.

Mrs. Ottaway Standing at the top of a teeter-totter, and finding yourself suddenly at the bottom is a challenge. You meet it by stiffening one leg and holding the other at a right angle as if about to walz. You congratulate yourself upon your wonderful balance.

The next moment—surprise, surprise—you really are waiting at a Tivoli or German beer-garden speed clutching wildly at the walls to keep your addled brains from being dashed out. You quietly pick up the debris that has catapulted through the room rearing.

Rise With Danger" for discussion. Mrs. John Bizer, Mrs. Paul Sweet, and Mrs. Elmer Stout took part. Mrs. Francis Beers lead in prayer and conducted the business meeting. There were ten members and one visitor present. Next meeting will be at the home of Mrs. Walter Murphy.

Mr. and Mrs. Stanley Rader and Mrs. Susan Rader visited Mr. and Mrs. Adam Bonser of Pocono Lake on Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. Gordon Shupp entertained a group of local children at a birthday party on Thursday night, in honor of their son, Barry, on his 6th birthday.

School Budget Increases 1 Per Cent Since 1939

(This is the first in a series of articles outlining increases in school operating costs in the borough of Stroudsburg from 1939 to the present.)

By Leonard Randolph

The rise in operating cost of most Monroe county schools is well-reflected in a study of the budget for the borough of Stroudsburg school district.

Since 1939 Stroudsburg school directors have increased their budget from $148,930.72 to $312,299.62 for the current school year.

A portion of this increase may be attributed to changes in the size of student enrollment. The great majority, however, is directly traceable to a rise in the cost of equipment, textbooks, building maintenance and teachers' salaries.

In short—the "high cost of living" has invaded the classroom.

During the 1939-40 school year, Stroudsburg's $148,930.72 budget was taken care of by a 22-mill property tax and five dollars per capita on all tax-paying residents of the borough. Funds derived from these two primary tax sources amounted to $104,742.63.

Of the remaining $44,188.09 Stroudsburg received $22,000 in appropriated funds from the Commonwealth; $14,188.09 in tuition from non-resident students and $8,000 from income described as "miscellaneous."

Non-resident students at Stroudsburg came from Stroud, Hamilton, Smithfield, Ross and Paradise townships, Portland, Delaware Water Gap, Upper Mt. Bethel and Mount Pocono. These non-resident tuitions are paid by the school districts, township or borough, in which they live. Stroudsburg also receives tuition fees from private sources.

In 1939 Stroudsburg property was assessed at $4,182,165. One year later it had dropped to $4,069,370.

The school budget dropped during the same period—to $144,791.72 for the 1940-41 school year. Some $89,526.14 of this budget was paid off by a 22-mill property tax with an additional $11,680 collected in per capita taxes—a total of $101,206.14.

During this school year the borough school directors collected $89,428.24 in property tax and $10,525 in per capita taxation to make up $99,953.24 of the overall budget.

State-appropriated funds fell slightly during the school year. In 1942-43, State paid a $23,000 share of Stroudsburg's education ticket. Non-resident students accounted for their share of the budget as outlying districts contributed $18,180 to the consolidated school's expenses. Miscellaneous income was tabulated at $6,976.76 for the year.

The years between 1939 and 1943 were not, apparently, heavy inflation years. A two-year decrease in budgetary allotment, during 1940-42, had been displaced by 1942's abrupt rise.

Within the next few years, the beginnings of inflation were to become more easily recognizable, however, with the pinch of wartime austerity (American brand) making itself felt in budgets everywhere.

The real trouble was just around the corner.

Captain's Words Recalled As Liner Runs Into Storm During Last Half Of Voyage

Editor's Note: Following is the third in a series of reports from Britain and Europe by Ruth Haller Ottaway, author of James H. Ottaway, publisher of The Daily Record. The writer is an experienced journalist and traveler and her reports from abroad in recent years have received a favorable reception by Record readers.

S. S. Ile de France—Pride goeth before a fall, and boasting of sunny days before a storm. No southern route could have given us calmer seas or more azure skies half the way over. Then the wind began to blow and the ship to roll. Ha! Ha! What is a little roll? It is fun. We like it. These were the general comments.

But when deck-chairs were deserted for cabins we found that we, the all-knowing, atomic-age men, were longing for suction pads on our feet as we performed the acrobatic stunts of floor. (We hope that no one steals this idea and invents suction pads for the feet. That would make two more bulging things to pack a sheer impossibility.)

Dressing for dinner was a victory of mind over matter.

Mrs. Ottaway Standing at the top of a teeter-totter, and finding yourself suddenly at the bottom is a challenge. You meet it by stiffening one leg and holding the other at a right angle as if about to walz. You congratulate yourself upon your wonderful balance.

The next moment—surprise, surprise—you really are waiting at a Tivoli or German beer-garden speed clutching wildly at the walls to keep your addled brains from being dashed out. You quietly pick up the debris that has catapulted through the room rearing.

Rise With Danger" for discussion. Mrs. John Bizer, Mrs. Paul Sweet, and Mrs. Elmer Stout took part. Mrs. Francis Beers lead in prayer and conducted the business meeting. There were ten members and one visitor present. Next meeting will be at the home of Mrs. Walter Murphy.

Mr. and Mrs. Stanley Rader and Mrs. Susan Rader visited Mr. and Mrs. Adam Bonser of Pocono Lake on Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. Gordon Shupp entertained a group of local children at a birthday party on Thursday night, in honor of their son, Barry, on his 6th birthday.

Birthdays celebrated recently: Mrs. Horace Saxo, Mrs. James Gould, Miss Edith Auchey, Miss Wanda Martin, Mrs. Thelma Heller, Mrs. Oscar Everett, Mrs. Clarence Altemose, Miss Helen Gould, Mrs. Victor Murphy, Mrs. Harley Everett and Mrs. Howard Gehris.

Thieves Take 1951 Sedan, Cash Register

Thieves stole a cash register and a car from the Calso Service station, N. Ninth St., Stroudsburg, shortly after 9:15 p. m. Saturday.

Borough police said two cartons of cigarettes, a box of cigars and half a carton of chewing gum were also taken.

Stewart Hufsmith, manager of the station—which is owned by the Lehigh Valley Oil Co.—said the car belonged to Verdon Edinger, who lives a "stone's throw" from the service station.

Edinger rented the wash rack inside the station for garaging his car. He had parked it there about 9 p. m. and less than half an hour later, was out walking his dog, police said.

Noting the open doors in the washing section, Edinger investigated and found the car gone. He notified borough police.

Police found a 22-by-16 inch window shattered at the northeast side of the station. A stone lay on the floor inside. Evidently entrance was gained through the window.

Manager Hufsmith said the 1951 Ford sedan was insured, but the station losses were not.

"The cash register weighed about 50 or 60 pounds," he said. "I only had a little change in it—maybe three or four dollars—I don't know why they took it, because it was open. Maybe they wanted to sell it."

The station manager said the burglars had also helped themselves to liberal portions of ice cream, and that popsicle sticks and wrappers were strewn on the floor.

Although State police teletype messages were sent out immediately, no word had been received about the car up to last night.
